

Design und Function

DRADE is a table within a table. Two three-legged tables in differing sizes melt into a five-legged multi-functional side table.

The DRADE sidetable consists of wooden table tops combined with round legs made from smooth Oak. It demonstrates true talent when it comes to fulfilling a multitude of functional requirements and fitting into a variety of spaces. By removing the small table you can adjust the additional storage area as required.

Thus, depending on the angle of rotation and position, you can create a wide open space or a small enclosed area – with room for individual preferences in between. In terms of functional design, the DRADE sidetable is a striking addition to any cosy living room, reading corner or lounge.
